Dear STMC Parents,

We need your help!

A check-in with a number of our staff over the last couple of days has identified a growing issue that we need parents help to address. The vast majority of students are checking their Google Classrooms and are joining their scheduled Google Meets for each of their classes. The issue we are having is that not all of our students are regularly checking their school-based emails for specific instructions, or requests for clarification or required follow-ups sent out by our staff. Given our current reality... this is pretty important!

In advance of our latest Student and Parent e-Mail Update going out later today... we are hoping that we can solicit the support of our STMC parents to get the following message out to their daughters/sons.

STMC Students are reminded to regularly check and respond to emails sent to their @my.stmc.bc.ca email addresses. Some of you are missing key instructions and information sent to you by your teachers!

Blessings & Kind Regards!

Steve Garland
